To All Concerned---

We are glad to announce to all cream producers that our Acme Branch is, and has been since January 1, 1929, on a co-operative basis; that is that all profits over expenses of operating and marketing will at the end of the year be divided among patrons, according to the amount of butter fat produced. The poor outlook for crops at the present time should induce every farmer to produce all cream possible. We will be glad to have you call and talk this important matter over.

Hike For Health!

Automobile laziness is stated to be the cause of one hundred times as many deaths annually as are caused by automobile accidents. The automobile has made it possible for us to get through life with hardly any exercise unless we are fortunate enough to be employed in some variety of manual labour. This has completely changed our mode of living but not our diet; we still eat the same quantities of rich heavy food customary many years ago.

Easy and quick transportation at any time by automobile should be one of our chief blessings; to many it appears to be far from that. The medical profession has been aware for some time of the great increase of disease among the well-to-do. The situation has become so marked that our great insurance companies are becoming seriously alarmed. Investigation has shown that fully 90 per cent. of the well-to-do members of our population have either undergone an operation or are suffering from some kind of disease, and the number of sudden deaths of apparently healthy people is increasing alarmingly.

The blame for all this is placed unhesitatingly upon the thoughtless use of the automobile. To preserve his health man must exercise. The languid game of golf after sitting all day either in his office or automobile has proved but a poor substitute. Even less effective is the modern method of enjoying our sports by sitting on a grand stand and watching others play baseball, football, or horses run a race. Many try to replace exercise by fad foods and patent medicines, and thereby enrich many charlatans but benefit themselves very little. We are clamouring for larger hospitals and more operating rooms; we would be wiser to clamour for more parks and recreational areas where we may pleasantly indulge in natural exercise.

It has become the fashion among the motoring public to drive through our parks and along our highways as fast as the law allows, and to agitate for extended roads hither and yon, so that they may drive further from the beaten path. The motoring public of tomorrow will undoubtedly have different ideals; they will appreciate motor roads located through attractive districts with numerous parking places from which they may explore on foot the beauties not to be seen from the road. They will be anxious to learn what is behind the hill. Now, the average motorist has but little to tell of his trip except his daily mileage record; then, the subject of his motor trips will be treated by his friends with the discretion now used towards a postage stamp collector. When once started on a description of the trip, photos, mineral specimens, and curios of many kinds will be produced, and the story of the trip will be a long one full of plans for the exploration of other districts in the future.

There is no more delightful nor healthful way to spend a week-end than on a new trail. Popular books, plays and amusements are usually "different." National parks provide something different every few minutes; the scenery, both in relation to light and shade and relative position, is always changing; there is always the lure of the unexpected just around the corner. Many and varied are the objects to interest the observant which will never be noticed by the long-distance hiker who, like the present day motorist, takes his pleasure from his mileage records. Some of the world's richest mines have been passed unnoticed by hundreds before the man with the seeing eye came along to see, investigate, and become the envy of his less observant fellows.

An elderly clergyman was found wandering alone in the mountains. He said that during a serious illness he realized that in his lifelong study of the word to come he had seen very little of the world in which he lived. His enjoyment of his surroundings was almost pathetic; he realized too late how much of the beautiful in this life he had missed.

Various foreign governments carefully foster physical culture either in the form of citizens' military training camps, great athletic meets, or Olympic games, in which thousands of athletes annually take part.

Walking has become very popular in many European countries. In Germany they were quick to grasp the significance of this, and shelters have been established at suitable points of interest throughout that country which were patronised by over twenty million hikers last year. Not only university students to whom a hike was a college week worth weeks of college, but hosts of wage earners from the large cities made up their own parties of from half a dozen to a hundred or more, and had a most enjoyable holiday at slight expense.

Obviously the scheme is of national benefit. National health is improved and patriotism fostered by broadening the vision and familiarizing the people with their own country.

The most robust employee usually commands the best wages, but during slack times the weak ones are often discharged, to possibly become a charge on the community. National prosperity is based on national health. Strong robust manhood and womanhood is the foundation on which a strong nation must rest. Canada has much beautiful scenery, and it is not restricted to any one section of the Dominion. Why not familiarize ourselves with our own country by walking through it? Why not set aside, each year, a hiking week, preferably in the late summer or early fall months, and go on a hike of thanksgiving for our present health and gather a harvest of health for the future?

Tribute To General Booth

Aged Commander Died Penniless
Although He Controlled Millions

Appreciation of General Bramwell Booth was high during his lifetime—he was the main builder of a world-wide organization dedicated to the service of humanity; it was perhaps even higher at his death, when came opportunity to review his works; it will be higher than ever as the result of an examination of his "estate."

The fact of the matter is there is no estate. It is revealed that the aged General died absolutely penniless. He owned not one cent, and he left no property other than his uniform and a few books. He controlled millions in money and property but never drew a cent from the Army. He subsisted on a trust fund of $2,500 a year, did not own the house in which he lived, and looked to relatives to pay his children's fees at educational institutions.

There are various elements which enter into true greatness. One is capacity; others are service to one's fellows, unselfishness, sacrifice. General Booth had all these. To die penniless is sometimes accounted an object for pity or scorn. In the case of Bramwell Booth it is yet another tribute to the man and his works.—Regina Daily Post.

WEAK, WATERY BLOOD

Is the Cause Of Much Distress and General Weakness

Anaemia—which really means weak, watery blood—is responsible for the pale faces, thin cheeks, dull eyes and drooping figures one sees so frequently. It is the chief cause of headaches, weak backs, aching limbs and uncertain health. Every weak, anaemic person should win the right to be well by refreshing thin, weary bodies with the new, rich, red blood so promptly supplied by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This new blood reaches every organ and nerve in the body and quickly banishes all those troubles that have their origin in watery blood. Among those who have found new health and strength through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. Elizabeth Evans, Amherst, N.S., who says: "When I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was so weak and run-down that I could scarcely go about the house, and found housework almost impossible. I was taking doctor's medicine, but with no apparent benefit. I had often read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to try them. Soon I found they were helping me, and, under their continued use I regained good health. The pills also completely relieved my son of St. Vitus Dance, so that I have every reason to praise them."

You can get the pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Expensive Airplane

Probably the most expensive aeroplane ever constructed was recently built in England. It has a ceiling hand decorated, that cost $5,000. Accommodations are for eight passengers and include a lounge and bridge tables, electric kitchen and electric refrigerator. The total cost of the plane was $150,000.

LAXATIVE FOR BABY THAT "STAYS DOWN"

Baby's tiny system rebels against castor oil and strong purgatives; but here's a medicine that just suits him. And it does the work quickly and so gently that Baby doesn't feel it. Fletcher's Castoria is soothing, cross, fretful babies and children to sleep and making the feverish, constipated, upset ones well and happy, in millions of homes today. Castoria is purely vegetable, harmless and endorsed by the medical profession. Avoid imitations. The Chas. H. Fletcher signature marks genuine Castoria.

Made Fortune By Accident

Proprietor Of Roundabout Had Unusual Luck In Australia

Fortunes are not always the result of hard work and good judgment, but are sometimes made by accident, says Jack McLaren in writing upon the subject in the London Daily Chronicle. One such case occurred when a roundabout was landed at Thursday Island—a cosmopolitan pearly centre off the north coast of Australia—for transshipment to Japan. Finding there were a few days to wait, the proprietor decided to erect his apparatus and employ the interval by making it earn a little. Instead of a few days he stayed three years.

For the island was completely lacking in entertainments, and the colored population rushed the roundabout as they would have rushed nothing else, riding it twenty hours a day, men, women and children, often three to a horse. Fare-collectors had to be put on in relays.

So many were the repairs necessitated by the excessive working that before the end of the second year the whole affair had been twice completely rebuilt. Those three years gave the owner far more money than he had thought to earn in the whole of his life.

Miller's Worm Powders are sweet and palatable to children, who show no hesitancy in taking them. They will certainly bring worm troubles to an end. They are a strengthening and stimulating medicine, correcting the disorders of digestion that the worms cause and imparting a healthy tone to the system most beneficial to development.

Honor Foundation Of Rhodes Scholarships

Great Gathering Of Scholars Celebrated Twenty-Fifth Anniversary

A great gathering of scholars from the British Empire, the United States and Germany, recently assembled in the new Rhodes house to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the famous Rhodes scholarships at Oxford University.

The Prince of Wales, former Premier Stanley Baldwin and many prominent persons were present at a dinner in honor of the occasion.

Mr. Baldwin, who is one of the Rhodes trustees, made the important announcement that for the first time since Germans were excluded from the scholarships during the Great War, German scholars would again be admitted as Rhodes scholars. He said the trustees, subject to the consent of the university authorities, would establish two German scholarships annually, tenable for two years only.

Presence Of Mind

Telephone Operator Sounds Fire
Siren When Bandit Invades
Office

Although bound and gagged by a bandit who had invaded the office of the Utah Telephone Company at Vernal, Utah, recently, Mrs. Hazel Hackler, the night operator, succeeded in frustrating the holdup. It was about 3.30 o'clock on a Sunday morning that the bandit appeared, and as the operator reached for the switchboard to call the night marshal, he grabbed her by the throat and choked her and then bound and gagged her. Turning to the desk nearby, he picked up the cash box, but the operator succeeded in reaching with her foot the switch which sounds the fire siren, with the result that the bandit became frightened and made his escape. — Telephone Press Service.

Makes a Difference

Simkins, who was house-hunting, and had just arrived at a station, said to a boy standing near, "My boy, I am looking for Mr. Johnson's new block of semi-detached houses. How far are they from here?" "About twenty minutes' walk," said the boy. "Twenty minutes!" exclaimed Simkins. "Nonsense! The advertisement said five." "Well," replied the boy, "you can believe me or the advertisement, whichever you like. But I ain't tryin' to sell a house!"

Her Little Boy Was Very Ill With Summer Complaint

Mrs. Ray Fisher, Lebert, Sask., writes:—"For over a month, last summer, my little boy was suffering from summer complaint. A Pleasing Incident

Deaf and Dumb Children Are Entertained To a Lecture

This pleasing and pathetic little incident took place in Montreal recently—at the largest health exhibit ever shown in Canada, when the Canadian Social Hygiene Council assisted the Montreal Federation of French Health Agencies in a financial drive.

Morning, afternoon, and evening, health lectures were given, thousands of school children being carried free on the street cars. And one day they brought all the little deaf and dumb children in Montreal.

They gathered that silent company in the big lecture hall, and placed them in little groups of fifteen or so, around lady teachers. Each teacher faced the lecturer, and the children solemnly looked at their teachers. And then the lecturer began to speak to the children, while they stood, unhearing, and watched their teachers.

He spoke only a few sentences, and stopped. And all the teachers began to move their fingers, translating the lecture. The children's eyes followed eagerly as they understood the words that were being relayed to them, their own native language that they could not understand until it was translated into motion.

Children are notably fidgety at lectures, but not so these youngsters. To see how they enjoyed every minute of it was enough to bring tears to many eyes that watched them. They were being brought into closer touch with the world of their voiced playmates; their partial isolation was being temporarily broken down. To each of them, that lecture was a big event.

MADE HER BABY PLUMP AND WELL

Nothing makes a mother more grateful than a benefit conferred upon her child. Mothers everywhere who have used Baby's Own Tablets for their children speak in enthusiastic terms of them. For instance, Mrs. Zepherin Lavoie, Three Rivers, Que., writes:—"Baby's Own Tablets are a wonderful medicine for little ones. They never fail to regulate the baby's stomach and bowels and make him plump and well. I always keep a box of the Tablets in the house and would advise all mothers to do likewise." Most of the ordinary ailments of childhood arise in the stomach and bowels, and can be quickly banished by Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets relieve constipation and indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers, expel worms, allay teething pains and promote healthful sleep. They are guaranteed to be free from injurious drugs and are safe even for the youngest and most delicate child. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25¢ a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Has Gained Popularity

Essay Contest Teaching Toledo School Children Facts About Canada

A Canadian essay contest in the Toledo, Ohio, schools, sponsored by Edmond G. Odette, M.P., for East Essex, has gained such popularity in that city that one of the newspapers now is carrying a daily feature entitled "Facts About Canada."

"Canada," one of the Toledo papers pointed out, "is a nation of home-owners in the farming district, 78 per cent. of the people owning their own homes."

Other facts listed from day to day, deal with Canada's natural resources, its hydro power, its fishing and its industrial enterprises.

The competition among the Toledo school children was started last fall when Mr. Odette, addressing the North Toledo improvement association, offered to pay the expenses of a trip to Ottawa for the author of the best essay on "Canada."

The proposal received such a favorable impression in Toledo, that the chamber of commerce there offered to do likewise for a second student. The object of the essay contest and the trip, is to promote a better understanding between the people of the adjoining countries.

Out Of Their Element

Eskimo Boys Cannot Stand Climate Of Eastern Canada

Ben Ell, nine-year-old son of Chief John Ell, head of the Southampton Island Eskimos, and Sam Pudlutt, who have been endeavoring to learn the ways of civilization at Lakefield preparatory school, near Peterboro, Ont., have been forced to give up their studies there and hurry home on account of illness.

Ben and Sam soon became favorites at the Lakefield school where they have been for two years, but just before Christmas both were forced to relinquish their studies to face an ordeal of sickness. Influenza, pneumonia, measles, tonsillitis and operations for mastoids and adenoids proved too gruelling a test for little Eskimo constitutions and it has been decided to send them back to their northern home.

Evidently Not

In a small country town they were discussing the question of a brighter Sunday.

Various proposals were put forward, and some daring soul suggested a Pleasant Sunday Afternoon.

A dignified old lady rose in the meeting and said: "There will be no pleasant Sunday afternoon where I am."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON JULY 14

EZEKIEL TEACHES PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY

Golden Text: "Each one of us shall give account of himself to God." — Romans 14:12.

Lesson: Ezekiel 18:1-32; 33:1-20.
 Devotional Reading: Psalm 125.

Explanations and Comments

The Prophet's Responsibility, verses 7-9.—Ezekiel is set as a watchman unto the house of Israel. He must hear the word of Jehovah and he must proclaim it; for as a watchman he is responsible for warning the people of the consequences of sin. He must know that God punishes wickedness, and he must warn the wicked from his way. If he fails in his duty of warning and the wicked man dies in his iniquity, the prophet is "blood guilty," accountable to God for that man. If, however, the prophet warns the man and the man fails to heed him, the prophet has "delivered his soul," he is free from guilt in the matter. His was the responsibility, not of producing obedience, but of uttering the warning. Recall how Paul declared to the elders of Ephesus that he shrank not from declaring unto them anything that was profitable, and taught them publicly, and from house to house, testifying both to Jews and to Greeks repentance toward God; wherefore he testified unto them that he was pure from the blood of all men, for he had ceased not to admonish every one night and day with tears, Acts 20:17-31.

"No one of us is free from the danger of taking spiritual obligation too lightly. If we are Christ's disciples at all, there is committed to us 'the word of reconciliation.' We are put in trust with a gospel which is intimately connected with the destinies of men. It is within our power to speak words which make an eternal difference to those who hear them; and upon our faithfulness may depend their opportunity of realizing the only way of escape and life. And yet how often are we content with something much less passionate than the service of a true watchman!" — J. Stuart Holden.

To Study Oriental Trade

Graduate Of University Of B.C. Has Gone To Japan

Possessor of a $1,000 scholarship for the study of Oriental North American trade conditions, Howard Nichols, Vancouver, 20-year-old University of British Columbia graduate, sailed recently for Yokohama.

Sale Of School Lands

Great Interest Shown In This Year's Auction Sales Held In West

Unprecedented interest was manifested in this year's auction sales of reserve school lands in Saskatchewan and Alberta. Attendance at the various points where sales were held was high, and reached 1,000 at some points. Many farmers acquired additional land adjoining their present holdings for the purpose of extending their operations, or to make provision for their sons. Many of the buyers of these lands were "new Canadians" who have prospered in western Canada.

In all, some 738,000 acres of land were sold, for a total of $10,192,829. Prices paid ranged all the way from $8 to $70 an acre. In Saskatchewan, 4,662 parcels were sold, the average price being $12.81 per acre, and in Alberta 63 parcels, the average price being $13.53 per acre. Two of the heaviest sales were at Assiniboia, Sask., where $1,400,000.00 was realized, and at Rosetown, Sask., where $1,216,000.00 was taken.

Powerful Medicine.—The healing properties in six essential oils are concentrated in every bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil, forming one of the most beneficial liniments ever offered to the use of man. Many can testify as to its power in allaying pain, and many more can certify that they owe their health to it. Its wonderful power is not expressed by the small price at which it sells.

Grandmother Says

"That when she was a wee, tiny baby and her mamma did not have enough milk to nurse her, she gave her Eagle Brand Milk, which made her strong and healthy—and now my mamma is giving me Eagle Brand, and I have gained over half a pound a week since I was three months old."

The high quality, uniformity and economy of Eagle Brand make it the first choice for cooking and table use.

If your baby is not gaining in weight as it should—if it cries or is fretty or restless—something must be the matter with it.

In this paper from time to time you will find an advertisement of Eagle Brand Milk, a food that has raised more healthy babies than all the prepared infant foods combined. Cut out the advertisement and mail it to The Borden Company, Limited, 140 St. Paul St. West, Montreal, and they will send you, free of charge, a very helpful baby welfare book containing authoritative feeding directions and a vast amount of useful information on the care of baby. Also ask for Baby Record, a diary of baby's progress.

If one chooses to be pessimistic about seasons in general and summer in particular all that is now delightful and alluring in the current season is overshadowed by real and imaginary discomforts and annoyances. Although Schopenhauer has authoritatively said that "Thinking men find nothing in life worth the living," the majority of human beings risk a personal application of the "divine pessimist's" imputation and thoroughly enjoy the warm days and hot nights of summer in spite of their many disadvantages.

It is frequently complained by even the habitual optimist that there is always something cropping up to spoil man's pleasures. Some of the common summer complaints are terrifying electric storms, humid and sultry working days, picnic-paralyzing showers, pestiferous insects, wriggling reptiles, congested motor traffic, dusty byways, post-vacation financial shortages and cold meals. Many factors detract from the fun of motor touring, camping in a tent, swimming, vacationing and resort sojourning.

Summer does have many discomforts and annoyances peculiar to itself, but perhaps they exist only to heighten by contrast the many luxuries that are summer's gift to mankind. Man must wrest everything from nature, even his pleasures, and invariably that which is achieved through the greatest effort affords the greatest pleasure.

Nothing is perfection in this universe, so the philosophers say, but this summer, with its fair days, its good motor roads, its fascinating resorts, its facilities for camping and swimming and its vacation time is as near summer perfection as mere man can hope for.

The editor and family leave on Saturday evening to spend a two weeks vacation at the former's home at Kaslo British Columbia and while away the Chronicle Office will be closed. At the present time the plant is not paying its way, so the little holiday ought to at least relieve that heavy feeling that we all have over business depression and at the same time we trust that after the vacation there will be a rush to catch up in the advertising and printing patronage by our local business men.

The contract for a new fast steamship to ply between Saint John and Digby, Nova Scotia will shortly be awarded by the Canadian Pacific Railway. It has been announced by E. W. There will also be accommodation for 50 motor cars. The speed of the vessel will be 22 knots, an unusually high speed for a short trip.

The contribution of some $13,227 from the railway grade crossing fund as part of the cost of diverting certain roads in the northern section of the province and eliminating 10 level crossings was authorized by the Board of Railway Commissioners in session in Edmonton during the past week. The Singing Fool

By HUBERT DAIL

SYNOPSIS

Marcus, the famous Broadway producer, heads a party of four that visits Blackie Joe's night club in downtown New York. Al Stone, Blackie's chief comedian and singing waiter, takes the order for beer. Grace, the cigarette girl, is in love with Al, but he doesn't know it. As he returns with the beer he encounters Molly, the ballad singer, whom he loves ardently. He begs her to sing a song he has just written. Molly is disdainful toward him. Blackie Joe tells Molly that the great Marcus is outside and she makes him promise to introduce her. When Al rushes back to her dressing room she refuses even to read his song. He sees it on the floor under her feet!

CHAPTER IV.

Al could scarcely believe his eyes—his song, the heart-throb ballad he had poured forth from the depths of his soul, lying on the floor unnoticed, under Molly's sharp and careless heel!

He raised his gaze as he felt Molly about to sweep, by him. Scarcely knowing what he was doing, he seized the angry girl in his arms, pulling her close to him, staring beseechingly into her eyes. She tried to pull away, but his grip of steel held her.

"Molly!" he pleaded. "Didn't you even read it?"

Again Molly tried to escape, succeeding this time. If she had been angry before she was blazing now.

"How dare you try to stop me? I told you I had important business out in front tonight! You bother some idiot—you've almost ruined my make-up!"

She returned to her dressing table and began dusting her arms and shoulders with powder. On the lapels and sleeves of Al's coat were the heavy white marks of the powder. But he did not notice them, nor did he hear her words. Slowly he stooped over, like a man in a dream, picking up his song. He saw the sharp print of Molly's steel-rimmed heel across the music. It had almost cut through the paper, and he stared at it for a long moment. It was as if that little heel had cut into his heart.

Again she headed for the door, reaching the corridor. Then she realized that Al was following her and she turned about, determined to settle him once and for all. Her blue eyes were glittering and her voice had a rasping, harsh quality.

"Al Stone, get this through your head. I won't have anything to do with you. I'm not going to marry you or any other waiter!

With vitriolic sarcasm she emphasized the word "waiter." Then with a flirt of her skirts she disappeared down the corridor. A moment later she was in the main room and had forgotten Al entirely, for she saw the figure of Marcus, czar of the Broadway revues, with his party at the ringside table across the dance floor.

At once her manner and expression changed. The calculating gleam in her eyes was masked by a soft, bright, friendly look; her body, which had been rigid with anger a moment before, relaxed so that she moved toward the Marcus table with an easy, sensuous walk. She was a very pretty girl at that moment. No one would have believed her features had been distorted by rage just a moment before; no one would have thought that she could treat a man as cruelly as she had just treated Al. But Molly was burning with ambition and she saw in Al only a love-lorn man who would be a hindrance to her in her climb toward fame. So she treated him ruthlessly, not because she disliked him, but because he got in her way. Her feeling toward him was neither love nor hate, it was just indifference. If he had been rich, powerful or socially distinguished, Molly would have played up to him like a soft and affectionate kitten. But—he wasn't.

Meanwhile, there sat Marcus, fifty feet away, chatting amiably with his companions and occasionally sending a bored glance toward the cabaret show that was in progress on the rectangular floor a few feet from his table. Molly studied his face and began to plan her course of action.

"What shall I do to make him like me," she whispered softly to herself, "baby stuff or a more sophisticated line? He looks so sophisticated himself, so maybe the baby stuff will go better. Remember, Molly darlin', that man can make you famous on Broadway if he likes you. But where—"

She cut short her unspoken soliloquy to look about for Blackie Joe, who had promised to introduce her to Marcus. Finally, she located him talking to some customers. She moved over to his side.

"Blackie."

He looked up.

"You know—" she said significantly. "I'd like to meet him before I do my songs. Then he'll be more interested in watching my stuff."

"Wise little girl," said Blackie, patting her on the arm. "Yes, I know. I'll give you a knockdown right now."

He took her by the hand and led her toward the Marcus table. She saw Marcus's eyes rise to meet hers, then Marcus himself was standing in response to Blackie's genial introduction. As if from a distance she heard Blackie's voice.

"Mr. Marcus, this is one of my most talented performers. Molly, may I present the most celebrated producer and picker of pretty girls on Broadway?"

Marcus smiled and courteously made way for Molly to sit down beside him. He knew that was what the girl wanted and he was willing to be polite about it for Blackie's sake. But to say that he was interested in Molly would be rank exaggeration. He had too many superbly beautiful girls in his revues to be impressed by one who was merely pretty.

Nevertheless, he addressed a few well-bred remarks to Blackie's singer and Molly, priding herself on her conversational gifts, came back in the most animated manner. But in a moment Marcus turned from her as the young actress on the other side of him engaged his attention.

Molly studied this girl closely, her gleaming jewels, her lovely little baby-doll face.

"There is a girl," thought Molly, "that Marcus is making famous. I'll say she looks like money, yet she's no prettier than I am. This man can put me on the map, too."

But at the moment it certainly appeared as if Marcus hadn't the slightest intention of helping Molly. In fact it seemed as if he had forgotten her presence entirely.

Meanwhile, the singing waiter, whose love she had flouted, paced the corridor leading to Molly's dressing room. For a moment he stopped and stared at the crumpled song-sheet he held in his hand, his face the picture of dejection. Outside were the syncopated rhythms from the jazz band and the staccato beats of a pair of tap dancers in action, but the only sound that echoed in Al's ears came from Molly's parting words. They seemed to reverberate through his whole body, like the dirge to his hopes and love. At last he realized completely that his chance of winning Molly was an utterly lost cause.

Dull despair crept over him and the sheet of music slipped from his unresisting hands. Mechanically, and without knowing what he was doing, he stooped and picked it up. Then the title of the song across the top caught his eye—"Always."

"Always"—what a fool he was to write a song like that, fondly believing it would touch her heart and that she would share his enthusiasm for it! Swiftly he crumpled the song-sheet in his fist, as if to wipe the memory of its creation.

In the distance, from a corner of the main room, Grace, the cigarette girl, was watching him sympathetically and intently. She had seen him talking to Molly. Vaguely she sensed the cause of his despair.

But Grace, loving him generously, thought not of herself nor of Molly, but only of some way to help Al in this time of trouble. Al, the gay, wise-cracking, singing waiter, had lost his pep and energy; Al, of the kindly, handsome mouth, of the deep, warm, glowing brown eyes; Al, who had been her best friend at Blackie Joe's—was suffering. She knew he didn't love her and considered her only a sweet child, but that didn't matter.

Giving a quick glance around, Grace stepped into the corridor and approached him on tiptoe. Al felt a light touch on his sleeve and heard a soft, sympathetic voice at his shoulder. He gave a start, thinking, in a mad burst of hope that it might be Molly. Then he looked down into Grace's eyes.

"What's the matter, Al?"

Official Altitude Record Of 20,000 Feet Made By Special Pilot

Captain J. D. Parkinson, special pilot of the Curtiss-Reid Flying Services, Ltd., Montreal, established an official Canadian altitude record of 20,000 feet in a cabin monoplane. He carried a sealed barograph.

The previous Canadian record was 18,000 feet, established by Captain Leigh Capel in a Moth plane.

Captain Parkinson's flight occupied one hour and 28 minutes, of which one hour and two minutes was occupied in the climb upwards.

When Food Sours

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been overstimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient, and harmless. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

Don't Let Foods Stale

Foods that ordinarily stale quickly will stay fresh and tempting a surprisingly long time if you cover them with Para-Sani Heavy Waxed Paper.

Your grocer, druggist or stationer has Para-Sani in the handy, sanitary knife-edged carton. For those who prefer a lighter paper put up in sheet form ask for Appleford's "Centre Pull" Packs.

GEORGE BANCROFT

— IN —

NET

Bancroft has the town on the edge again. Bancroft on both sides of the law—as a cop and a culprit. If you are one of those who thought "Underworld" just about the last word in crook melodramas, don't let this one catch you napping.

DON'T MISS IT

Mrs. S. F. Torrance and children left on Monday for a couple of weeks holiday at Sylvan Lake.

There has, as yet, been no rain in this district to speak of and now the weather has turned real warm and we are suffering under intense heat, the temperature during the past few days being around 90 degrees in the shade.

An opening dance is being staged in the new Carbon Billiard hall on Monday evening next, July 22nd. The music is being supplied by the Merry-makers 6-piece orchestra and a lunch will be served. Everything will be free, so come along and enjoy yourself.

FIRST CANCELLATION OF DRIVER'S LICENSE

First cancellation of a driver's license was made by Magistrate George B. McLeod, in the Edmonton Police court Friday, when Robert W. Heron was charged with operating a car while intoxicated. Heron and his friends pleaded that he was susceptible to nervous or fainting spells, and that he was in the throes of one of these spells when arrested on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated. Heron fainted while in the witness stand, and the court was adjourned for several minutes until he recovered. He said that he had only four glasses of beer and wasn't intoxicated. Crown Prosecutor S.T. Bigelow argued that Heron, in his present physical condition, would be unfit to operate a car when he had four glasses of beer, whereas the average man perhaps would not feel any adverse effects. "In any case his driver's license will be cancelled," Magistrate McLeod ruled.

In Japan you can tell if a girl is married or single by her hair. Over here you can't even tell if she's a girl.

In "The Drag Net," George Bancroft's latest starring vehicle for Paramount, which is coming to the Carbon Theatre Friday and Saturday, July 19 and 20, the theme of the story is featured by new treatment of the underworld melodramatic plot. Although the beginning of the story impresses the audience as one in which the chief character pursues a gang of crooks, and is expected to continue in his efforts throughout the picture, such is not the case of this story.

True, George Bancroft, who portrays the role of Two-gun Nolan, police lieutenant of detectives, is at first engaged in this pursuit of duty, yet due to a dramatic action that takes place in his life, he is seen as falling by the wayside, and living the direct opposite life that he had been accustomed to. It is due to this action, that "The Drag Net" is featured by its difference from the usual procedure of melodramas doing with the underworld.

ALBERTA EXHIBITS FOR AMERICAN FAIRS THIS YEAR

Alberta will again be advertised this season by an exhibit of agricultural products and natural resources to be shown at a number of state and country fairs through the middle western States. Arrangements have been completed by the Publicity Branch of the Department of Agriculture to show this display at fairs in Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas during August and September. A marked increase in the interest shown in the opportunities for settlement in Alberta and in emigration to the province is reported from the localities in which similar exhibits have been shown during the past few years.

BOW RIVER FEDERAL CON-STITUENCY ASSOCIATION

The annual convention of the Bow River U.F.A. Constituency Association will be held in the Town Hall at Glenora on July 30th and 31st, beginning at ten o'clock a.m.

The annual dues of the association have now been fixed at fifty cents per member. As considerable expense will be incurred in holding the convention all locals who have not already sent in their full membership dues are requested to do so as soon as possible. At the last convention it was pointed out that some of the secretaries failed to call the meeting for the election of delegates to the convention in sufficient time. All secretaries are urged to attend to this in good time this year as failure to do so last year caused considerable confusion. The representation will be one delegate for each ten members paid up, and major fraction thereof. Arrangements have been made for an auto camp for those desiring to use it and all members are requested to camp if possible and make it an event. Those intending to camp should provide their own tents, etc.

The speakers for the Convention will be E. J. Garland, M.P., who will give his annual address covering the last session of Parliament, and especially that part of it having to do with grading and mixing of wheat, the car order book; the reorganization of the Board of Grain Commissioners and the parliamentary amendments to the Grain Act in relation to these matters. The other speakers are expected to be Hon. Perren Baker, Minister of Education, A. B. Claypool, M.L.A. on the proposed co-operative packing plant, and Mrs. Warr, President of the U. F.W.A.

Who Does Your Printing?

All business houses need more or less printed matter, all of which is within the possibilities of the local printer. Yet how prone many are to pass up the home printer and let the orders go to city offices which have no interest whatever in rural communities except to get printing orders and the cash to pay for them. Business men, remember that the home paper is constantly promoting the interests of the home community and you owe it to yourself and your local paper to back up these efforts by at least having your printed matter done locally.
